

Isabel Brás, with a degree in Chemical Engineering and a PhD in Engineering Sciences, is a Coordinating Professor and Researcher at the Polytechnic of Viseu, in the area of Environment and environmental monitoring and waste recovery. She dedicates part of her research to the valorization of biowaste and the application of life cycle assessment studies to proposals for treating this waste.

